Leads Are False, Kidnaped Boy Is Believed Dead

Father of James Cash Gives Up Hope of Finding Son Alive

THANKS SEARCHERS

Father, However, Is Convinced That Kidnapers Will Be Caught

PRINCETON, Fla.—(AP)—James Cash, Sr., said Saturday that he was resigned to death of his only child but was convinced the kidnap-slayers would be caught.

Cash expressed to reporters his thanks to the 2,000 persons who hunted fruitlessly for the five-year-old boy snatched from his bedroom last Saturday.

He indicated that he had given up all hope of finding James, Jr., alive.

Leads Are False
PRINCETON, Fla.—(AP)—Federal agents fruitlessly ran down half a dozen new leads in the kidnaping of little Jimmy Cash Friday as search for the boy extended south to the tangled mangrove swamps of the Florida coast.

Naval planes from the Miami reserve base joined the hunt—in vain—and the case appeared far from solution as the federal bureau of investigation released three men who had been questioned.

Willard and John Campbell, brothers, and John Manuel, negro, were permitted to leave the FBI headquarters at Miami. John Campbell said he bore no malice toward the

Feared Slain by Abductors

Fear for the safety of 5-year-old James P. Cash, Jr., above, held an army of angry farmers, national guardsmen and police in check as the father waited at his home in Princeton, Fla., in the hope that the boy's kidnapers would advise him where he could find his baby—as they had promised to do after Cash paid $10,000 ransom. The posse organized to search for the boy dispersed temporarily in deference to the father's request that he be allowed more time to establish a contact with the abductors. Authorities recalled the Lindbergh kidnaping, however, and feared that the boy had already been killed.

Ozan Farm Meet Is Held Friday

Three Phases of Pending Legislation Favored by Farmers

Fifty-five members of the Ozan local farm bureau organization held their regular monthly meeting Friday night, June 3. Earl King, president of the local organization, conducted the meeting. All officers were present.

The organization went on record as favoring three phases of pending legislation:

1. The continuation of 3 1/2 per cent interest on land in the Federal Land Bank.
2. Provisions for farmers marketing vegetable products and poultry to be able to enact the marketing agreement act.
3. To appropriate the $212,000,000 to pay subsidy on cotton and other farm products for the year 1938.

This phase of legislation was highly recommended and endorsed by every member present.

C. M. Lankin, assistant county agent, presented additional information relative to the 1938 cotton program. The need for additional pasture establishment was shown, and he discussed the different payments which are made by the conservation program for establishing and improving pasture. The value of a trench silo was impressed and several members indicated that they would construct a trench silo.

W. M. Sparks, secretary and treasurer for the local organization, made a short talk on the value of local organizations to a community. He stated that if the farmers do not look after their own interests through organized efforts, we will continue to receive a small amount of the nation's income.

J. K. Green, a member of the organization, gave a report of the regional meeting at Fordyce. He stressed the fact that Hempstead county has the largest farm organization of any county in the state and that, as an organization, we should work for the county's benefit and let others know that we are not a "hill" county as we are commonly classified. We are proud of our organization and are going to strive to make it continue to grow.

Mr. King concluded the discussion by appointing Jerome Smith and J. K. Green as being in charge of the program next month.

The organization went on record as being 100 per cent in favor of recommending an amendment to the farm program in that every farmer will receive his allotment by January 1 each year and that he be guaranteed a parity price if he co-operates with the farm program.

The next meeting will be the first Friday night in July.

Negro Apparently Asleep When Killed

Solon Whittaker Believed Struck by Passenger Train

Solon Whittaker, 35-year-old Patmos negro, apparently was killed by a south-bound L. & A. passenger train early Friday morning. Coroner J. H. Weaver said Saturday.

The negro's body was found on the tracks a half mile south of Patmos at 3 p. m. Friday. Coroner Weaver and Sheriff Jim Bearden investigated.

They said the negro had been to a dance Thursday night and that evidence showed he had been drinking. It was the opinion of the investigating officers that the negro went to sleep on the tracks and was struck and killed by the south-bound passenger train early Friday.

The body was horribly mangled. The body had been dragged along the tracks for a distance of nearly 300 feet. The negro's home was just across the tracks from where the body was found.

But Vote June 11 Is Removal Only; Cost to Be Voted Later

Contemplated Figure Is $150,000 Building, Financed by Tax of One Mill or Less, Speakers Tell City Hall Rally

Arguments about the cost of a new courthouse and its tax bill are beside the point in the courthouse removal election next Saturday, June 11; that election merely decides whether the court site will remain at Washington or the voters at a second election, speakers told a mass meeting of city and county citizens in Hope city hall Friday night.

These points, however, were brought out as to the probable cost:

1. That an adequate courthouse will probably cost $150,000.
2. That the federal government will aid the project in one of two ways—either advancing the entire cost of the project and being repaid in 50 years without interest; or, granting 45% of the cost, the county paying the 55% balance with 4% interest in 20 to 25 years.
3. The first plan would require half-mill tax; the second plan, a one-mill tax.
4. Hempstead's assessed valuation is $5,080,000 and a one-mill tax would yield $5,080. The immediate Hope area pays the heaviest county tax, and would pay the largest share of the cost of a new courthouse.
5. In an emergency, due to the state relieving the county government of several thousand dollars' annual expense, it is possible a new building could be erected without any tax increase whatever.
6. The present Washington courthouse constructed in 1874, is dangerous—the truss supporting the roof started to collapse above the late Circuit Judge James H. McCollum, and the damage was temporarily repaired with a rod through the building above the courtroom ceiling.
7. In order to obtain removal of court site Hope must poll approximately 1,600 affirmative votes—a clear majority of the approximately 3,200 qualified voters. The voter who stays away from the polls June 11 automatically votes against Hope.

Speakers Friday night were: State Senator John L. Wilson, Hope, chairman of the Courthouse Removal Committee; H. H. Huskey, Blevins, president Hempstead County Farm Bureau; Albert Graves, mayor of Hope; Luther F. Higginson, former county judge; O. A. Graves, P. T. Staggs and Steve Carigan, all of Hope.

Senator Wilson, presiding over the meeting, opened the program by recalling that during the last years the late James H. McCollum served as circuit judge, the ceiling of the old courthouse bulged downward and a hasty examination showed that the truss supporting the roof was collapsing.

A rod was run through the building, and a turnbuckle applied to tighten up the structure and prevent a complete collapse. Senator Wilson, then serving as county judge, said he approved the claim for the repair work—which admittedly left the building, now 64 years old, still in a dangerous condition.

Senator Wilson drew attention also to "propaganda" which he said was being circulated against Hope in the present election—to the effect that the Garland school site which is being donated by the city as a courthouse location is still encumbered by a debt due to R. M. LaGrone, trustee. Senator Wilson invited R. M. LaGrone, Sr., to address the audience—and Mr. LaGrone stated that neither the Citizens National bank, of which he is president, nor himself nor any of his associates, now had, or ever had had, any lien against the Garland property.

H. H. Huskey
Mr. Huskey said he would vote to remove the county-seat from Washington to Hope. "Twenty-five years ago I might not have done this," he said. "But times have changed. Hope today affords more accommodations than Washington possibly can—and Hope serves best the great majority of the county's population."

"Furthermore, every citizen has a certain pride in his county courthouse. I think Hempstead needs a new building. We really need—and are worthy of—a better building than the one that has stood at Washington for 64 years."

Mayor Graves
Mayor Graves disclosed that $150,000 is the contemplated total cost of the new courthouse to be proposed at the second or bond election, should Hope win the removal election June 11. "The federal government," he said, "will offer one of two plans for financial aid to the county. Either the government will advance the county the total cost, to be repaid in 50 years without interest; or, the government will make an outright grant of 45% of the cost and loan the county the 55% balance at 4% interest, to be paid in 20 to 25 years."

"The first proposal would be the cheapest for the county—and would cost half a mill tax."

"But if the second proposal is more likely to be adopted by the federal government, then the cost to the county would be a tax of one mill."

"This is part of the federal government's pump-priming program. I don't mean to say I am for pump-priming—I am not—but I hate to think of spending the rest of my life-time paying for new courthouses everywhere in the land except my own home county."

"Malvern got a $127,000 courthouse two years ago and it's mighty nice—and you all know Malvern's county isn't half as good as Hempstead."

"About that Garland site which the city is donating to the county—the title to that property is absolutely clear. It never was encumbered by Mr. LaGrone, but it might have looked that way due to the refunding of an earlier school debt. Yet Garland wasn't included in the mortgage—and in any event, Mr. LaGrone's release deed subsequently was filed and made a part of the record."

"Some of our opponents are doing a lot of guessing. You hear in some quarters that a new courthouse would double your tax bill. If you doubled the tax bill you would pay for a new courthouse in one year flat. That's absurd. A five-mill tax would pay out the building in five or six years. Actually, the cost will be one mill, at the outside."

"If the federal government should refuse to give any help whatever the cost would still be only one mill plus 45%."

"Or, you can cut out some of the county's services and build a new courthouse without any tax increase whatever."

County Expenses Reduced
Following Mayor Graves, Senator Wilson remarked that recent legislators have cut $5,000 to $6,000 a year expense off the county government, by taking over the salaries of the county agents, the health nurse, and sundry expenses.

It would be possible, Senator Wilson said, to reduce the county general tax from five mills to four mills, and then add one mill on again for courthouse construction—leaving the total tax bill unchanged from the present figure.

Luther F. Higginson
Former Judge Higginson said: "Hempstead has the poorest courthouse of all the 75 counties."

"Pike county has a brand new courthouse and jail that makes our county building look disgraceful."

"Let's get the record straight on this tax business. The assessed valuation of Hempstead is $5,080,000, and one mill on that is $5,080 a year—which is plenty to build all the courthouses will will ever want."

"The federal aid program makes this a Santa Claus proposition—hang up your stockings!"

"Tell the truth—don't tell any lies. We want to move the courthouse this time!"

O. A. Graves
Mr. Graves said: "This is my third courthouse campaign, the others being in 1910 and 1914."

"I want to say at the outset that we don't want a single vote in this election unless it's by a qualified elector, and voted in his correct precinct."

"The county seat should follow the trend of population and trade. If Washington should continue to be the seat of county government why is it, then, that the county agents, who have to serve all the people of the county, don't stay in Washington, but actually make their headquarters in Hope?"

"Why isn't the WPA headquarters at Washington, instead of being at Hope?"

"Probably 75% of all the legal business of the county comes out of the

Some "Don'ts" to Remember About Care of the Teeth.

The human being is constructed with a considerable number of factors of safety. We have two kidneys, when one will do the work; seven times as much liver as is necessary for the ordinary functions of the body; a long gastro-intestinal tract, and several organs whose functions are duplicated, so that they may be removed in the presence of disease.

Few people have complete sets of sound teeth which would represent the normal as far as dentition is concerned, yet they manage to get along fairly well with the kind of teeth and the number that they have. This situation should not, however, cause us to be unusually careless in relationship to our teeth. Simply because we do not realize the hazards involved in some of these careless practices, we never give them a thought.

Recently, Dr. Richard C. Leonard has listed some of the don'ts involved in the care of the teeth. They constitute sound advice which everyone should keep in mind. They are:

If a button pops off and you have to sew it in a hurry (this applies to Scouts, young or old, masculine or feminine), or if you have any other sewing to do, don't bite your thread. Cut it. The habitual practice of biting threads will result eventually in nicking the biting edge of the teeth. It will not only give them a sawtooth appearance, but will weaken the edge and may open the way for decay. Don't bite hard-shelled nuts to crack them. Even though tooth enamel is the hardest of the human tissues it will not stand too great force. You may crack the enamel instead of the nut shell.

Don't place your dependence for the health of the mouth on any commercially advertised dental cure-all. Dentures are intended only to keep clean the teeth. They are not remedies for mouth diseases; neither will they prevent such diseases, and Don't expect a toothbrush to last forever, or for more than a few months. Bristles that have become soft from teeth properly. Don't—and this is another important one. Because the first or baby teeth come out, don't believe that these teeth should be neglected. Baby teeth have a function to perform. If they are not properly cared for they cannot function properly, and worse still, neglect is likely to result in pain, systemic disease and crowding of the succeeding teeth.

Now as to the things that should be done. There are three in particular: Eat proper food. Have a thorough examination and the necessary attention by the family dentist at least twice a year. Keep the mouth clean. Tooth strength comes from the food eaten while the teeth are being formed. Regular attention by the family dentist will prevent nearly all dental troubles. Proper cleanliness of the mouth through thorough brushing of the teeth at least twice daily will help to prevent tooth decay.

Conflict Fades If Brought Into Open

(No. 108)
Conflicts are battles we fight with ourselves.

This is about as clear as I can make it, but of course there is more to it than that. Often we are not conscious of our conflicts, a they are waging a war beneath the surface.

However, it is not the casual conflict that wears us out. It is our dodging the issue that does most of the damage. And continuing to dodge it.

When we want to do one thing and have to do another, sometimes we allow years to go on without doing anything about it. Not that it is always possible to accept the inevitable cheerfully, but the person who can face it, and look reality in the eyes, will find many things quite bearable that have seemed impossible to stand.

Children have their conflicts, too. Perhaps not so seriously as grown-ups, but adolescence is given to them rather cruelly.

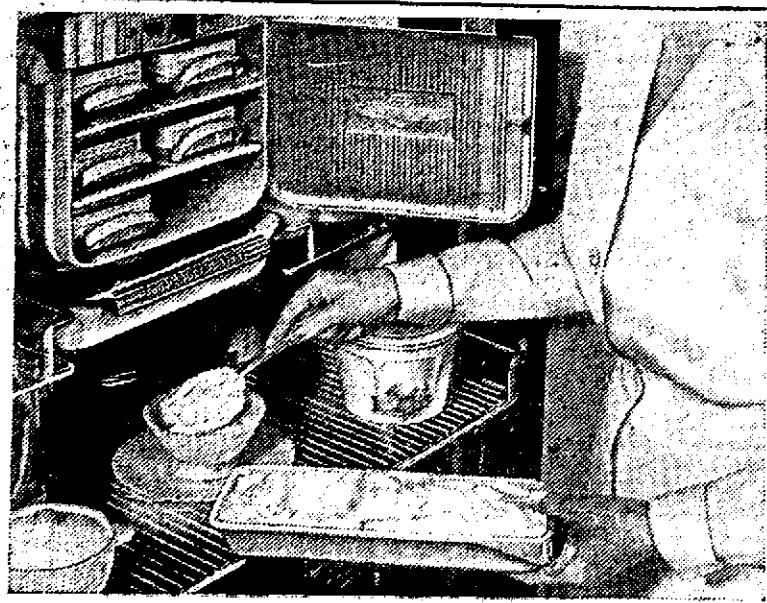

Often the fight lies in other fields. Perhaps a child is divided in his loyalties, or must choose between two loyalties. He loves both parents but they quarrel and he feels that he must take sides. He cannot do so, because he loves his mother and in a more worshipful way, his daddy, too. Very possibly he blames one or the other, because he can reason. But he feels like a traitor. He cannot decide where his allegiance lies. He wants it to include them both as it once did, as though they were one person.

The young child thrown too much upon his own resources with no one to make a program or to suggest, finds himself unable to decide. He has too little experience and judgment to stand beside a decision, or even to make one. To know what one wants and then try to do it is a short-cut to mental peace.

To permit a child to do much of his deciding, as he becomes ready for it, is an excellent plan; because he learns to face problems and then to rest satisfied with his own judgment. He also learns to take the hardest way often, backed by his sense of sportsmanship and fairness. When he can do this, he is getting into very good company.

Put egg whites, sugar, water, and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly blended and white in color. Place over rapidly boiling water; beat constantly with rotary egg beater. Cook 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat until cool and thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of two 9-inch layers.

This Man, Joe Murray

BY WILLIAM CORCORAN

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JOE MURRAY—liked new places, new jobs, new girls.
IRENE—fell in love—hard—
TERRY MALLOW—found love—and kept it!

Yesterday Joe returns home and then he meets a strange little Terry Mallow who comes from a mean, useless family where she seems to be holding the bag.

CHAPTER V

SHE did not talk, this Terry Mallow, but the neighborhood could make its own observations. People in the same house had indignantly reported the sounds of anger and then of pain and fear coming through the walls when Terry's father took it in mind to punish her. They had seen the ugly welts of blows on her small white shoulders. What the child's bad behavior could consist of was a mystery entirely, for she had been locked in, aside from church and school, all her life. Now that she had taken a job—which she secured the first moment possible, as her only escape—it was said that sort of thing was no longer so frequent; she earned, with the pay envelope she turned over, unfettered each week, the first little freedom she ever had which it seems she was devoting to visits on the Murrays. But boys were the cardinal sin, forbidden and condemned.

Now I know such a family sounds hard to believe, but I am giving the main facts bluntly, because to explain them fully would be a whole story in itself. The two old ones had never forgiven Terry's mother for marrying their precious son; between all of them they had killed her in time, and I guess she died finding no release even in death because of the baby girl she must leave behind. The baby girl grew up with all that hatred and unforgettingness turned upon her. That was the whole thing. Do you think it is unnatural and incredible?

AS Joe took this all in, even though the kid Terry meant nothing at all to him, his blood began to boil a little.

"Why the hell don't she blow?" he asked Irene. "She's making a living. She's healthy."

Irene smiled; she understood how his thoughts ran. "She's a girl, remember, Joe. And she's not of age. They'd go after her and put her in the wayward home."

Joe thought that over, and shrugged slowly; it was beyond him. Your own flesh and blood? That didn't make sense! He slid it from his lean shoulders and went out. But he raised no more questions about the visiting firewoman in the kitchen; instead he gave her a short smile and a curt, "Lo, kid!" whenever she crossed his path.

Then one evening, about nine o'clock, Terry's dad called at the Murrays' to ask for her.

He came in, a big flashy-looking, soft man with bright green eyes and a laugh wavered between condescension and apology. His manner intimidated plainly how sorry he was to bother them over his family affairs, but they could judge for themselves how dutiful a father he was.

"No, Terry's not been in tonight," Mrs. Murray told him guardedly, trying to keep down the hostility that came instinctively at sight of him, at sight of any man like him. She and her daughters of her own, and she had a shrewd eye for men.

"She has told us she came here occasionally," he said. "I hate to be bothering you. But I try to keep an eye on her."

"If she comes, I'll tell her," said Mrs. Murray.

And Mrs. Murray frowned after him and shook her head and wondered.

THE next afternoon Terry accompanied Irene home from the mill. Terry was quieter than ever they had seen her, but Irene was brusque and grim. Joe, when he came in, found the kitchen door shut on him. The two girls and Mrs. Murray were in there. He could hear his mother and sister talking, and somebody was sobbing. The old man growled at him to keep away, and puzzled, he kept away.

Terry stayed for supper. He looked at her closely as she came to the table, and she was gay in an extraordinary way. It was an artificial kind of gaiety, but very cheering just the same. It was a pleasant meal.

Afterward, when he had read through the paper and the women had about all cleaned up, Joe strolled into the kitchen where the three of them were again, talking women's matters. He looked at them silently a minute, and then said sharply, "What's up? What's wrong? Let me in on it."

Irene and her mother exchanged a quick glance. Terry looked sort of blank, like the shell of a creature that has retreated out of sight. Irene battled temptation, and then abruptly jerked the edge of Terry's dress away from her shoulder.

There was a broad blotched welt going down under the dress, down her back, the mark of a heavy leather strap.

Joe swore softly. His face was quiet and hard.

THE surprising thing was how Terry took that unexpected exposure of her shoulder. She spat like a cat, fiercely, and she struck Irene's hand away and snatched the dress into place again and sort of retreated away from the door, and she stood there angry and very defiant, looking at Joe with her big eyes. No one knew what to say. Joe wanted and said nothing. He turned and walked out of the room.

He did not see Terry again that night. But Irene told him later, "She was sore as she could be. That I showed you her shoulder. Her old man gave her that. She was out last night and she lied to him she was here. He came over and checked up."

"Where was she?"

"Down at Papke's drug store."

"All the time? Who was she with?"

"The crowd there. Tommy Withers and the gang that hangs out in Papke's."

He grunted and said no more. Terry was gone. She had returned home simply to go to bed, and the Murrays had sent the kid brother along with her to alibi her for the absence.

A couple of nights later, as he lighted his after-supper cigarette at the table, Joe asked generally, "Terry been around?"

It seemed she had not been in since that other night.

"Irene," Joe said, "you tell her to keep away from Tommy Withers."

"Why?" said Irene.

"Because I'm telling you." Irene looked at him. "Have you talked to Withers?"

"I have," said Joe. He met his sister's gaze, and his blue eyes were flintlike. "I clipped him one too. He thinks he can get fresh. So I clipped him one. I don't want to do it again, see?"

Hope area.
The present courthouse is 64 years old, built in 1874.

"Where are you going to build the new courthouse that you actually need and must build somewhere very soon—are you going to build it again at Washington?"

"Speaking for my clients, some of the larger property owners of the county and of Hope, I will say now that they are for removal of the courthouse and for building an adequate new building in Hope."

"You might build a new courthouse without any change in the tax by making certain economies in operating the county—but I think you will need a one-mill tax."

But even if you build a $150,000 courthouse and get no federal aid whatever, 2 mills would pay it out shortly.

"But you will vote on the cost matter at a later election—only removal is the issue now."

"Hope has to have about 1,600 votes—a majority of the poll tax list. Washington doesn't have to get a single vote—just give 'em a barbecue or keeping 'em working, just so they don't vote at all."

"If you stay at home June 11 you vote against removal."

P. T. Staggs
Mr. Staggs recalled the fraud charges of an earlier campaign, and cautioned:

"You must be a qualified elector and you must vote in your correct precinct. If you are qualified but vote in the most convenient precinct rather than the one where you are registered, then you might just as well live in Europe—for they will throw your vote out in the courts."

Steve Carrigan
Mr. Carrigan said:

"This is the big town of the county. This is on the main-line railroad. This is where the highways meet. This is where the courthouse ought to be."

"To say we can't afford to build the courthouse that we need at this time is a reflection on Hempstead county."

"Hope pays the biggest tax and will pay the largest share of the courthouse cost."

"Luther Higgins said this was a Santa Claus proposition—but, folks, don't forget: Christmas comes June 11!"

Makes Ocean-Flight History

The Ace of Ace flyers is Dick Merrill, the only man in history to ever complete two round-trip flights across the Atlantic ocean. And he holds the record for the fastest two-way journey ever completed over the Atlantic.

Merrill returned to America from his coronation flight in England in less than five days after he had first taken off at Floyd Bennett Field in New York. His 1,600 mile eastward trip had been covered in 21 hours and 2 minutes with an average speed of 170 miles per hour, and his average speed for the return flight was 144 miles per hour. His flight covered a total distance of approximately 3,000 miles in less than five days.

It was Merrill's second round-trip ocean crossing in less than a year, and was the first commercial flight ever made across the Atlantic. As representative of a newspaper syndicate, he procured and returned to America pictures of the coronation.

It is interesting to note that Pilot Dick Merrill chooses breakfast of Great Americans, Quaker Oats. Active people who need great reserves choose vitamin foods. Quaker Oats, which is rich in Vitamin B, is splendid for combating nervousness, indigestion and poor appetite.

The Real Love of Sir Thomas Lipton's Life

When Sir Thomas Lipton died at his home in Osidge, London, on October 2, 1931, newspapers throughout the world carried the famous picture of Sir Thomas in his yachting cap and gave their readers the story of his life.

But these articles, in the main, stressed the story of his later years: Sir Thomas as great philanthropist, Sir Thomas as ambassador of good will, Sir Thomas as celebrated yachtsman; and forgot to emphasize the title of which he was proudest. This title was Thomas Lipton, Tea Planter, Ceylon.

For tea was the consuming interest of Thomas Lipton's life—from the day in 1889 when his first purchase of twenty thousand chests of tea arrived in Glasgow and the loads were drawn through the streets of that great Scottish city accompanied by brass bands and bag pipes, until the day 42 years later when the beloved old man passed away.

Up to the time of Lipton's entry into the tea business, most of the tea in the world came from China. The island of Ceylon was known as a great coffee-growing country. There was not a tea plant on the island. But in 1870, Ceylon was visited by a blight that snuffed out the life of every single coffee plant, and promised to spell economic disaster for Ceylon.

In the gloomy days that followed, young Thomas Lipton and some other adventurous souls thought: "Why not try to grow tea in this rich Ceylon soil and exceptionally gentle climate?" Tea plants were imported and cultivated with scientific care.

Never was experiment more successful. Ceylon proved to be one of the great tea-growing spots in the world. Here sprang from Mother Earth tea unsurpassed for delightful flavor. And, oddly enough, the finest of all the tea gardens in Ceylon were Thomas Lipton's.

With his own superb tea as a basis, Thomas Lipton mixed a blend so fine that it has carried off top honors in five world's fairs. And, at the Great Tea Exposition of Ceylon and India,

J. Edgar Hoover, personally directing the search after bringing in 14 more agents by plane, spent the day at the FBI office apparently supervising examination of clues such as the three ransom notes and the shoebox in which James Bailey Cash, Sr., paid the $10,000 demanded.

At a press conference late in the day Hoover and his presence here was only to co-ordinate the investigation and did not imply that a "break" was in sight. He said a number of "volunteer witnesses" had been questioned and more would be examined but that no one had been charged with little crime.

Cash left his frame apartment house for the first time since he vainly delivered the ransom for his son Tuesday to inspect with authorities a decomposed object in a burlap sack which a negro woman found on a dump. It turned out to be a dead dog. Mrs. Cash was in bed under the treatment of a physician.

Another flurry was caused when Mary Frances and William Howard Dressing, teen-aged sister and brother of Traver, 40 miles south, found a blood-stained glove under a heavy rock and a child's building block nearby on the edge of a water-filled rock pit. Divers were summoned but their search was fruitless.

The children related they had seen a blond little boy with a woman and four or five men in the vicinity Wednesday.

Search in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS.—State police and federal agents Friday night searched Northwestern Indiana after receiving reports that kidnapped 5-year-old James B. (Skeegle) Cash, Jr., son of a Princeton (Fla.) filling station owner, had been seen at Fowler in Benton county Indiana.

Mrs. Ben Ladd of Fowler reported to Sheriff Amos Senese of Benton county that she saw a boy who said resembled photographs of the missing Cash child, with a "dark complexioned man who seemed to be a freighter" Friday morning.

The man and boy, she said, were picked up by a passing motorist and headed north.
Although investigators said there appeared to be "only a slim chance" the child was the Cash boy they broadcast the information by radio over a wide area.

Baseball Player to Trial Monday

Jack Foster of Benton Is Charged With Slaying of Teammate

CAMDEN, Ark.—Trial of Jack Foster, 22, Benton semi-pro baseball player, for the the baseball bat slaying of his teammate, Curtis Carson, 25, following a Camden-Benton game here April 24, has been set for Monday.

He was indicted last week at a special session of the grand jury. When ordered into court Foster fainted and was placed in care of a physician. Ernest Chatman and George Henderson, negroes, facing two first degree murder indictments each in the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. George Fultz, Benton couple, last November 22, will be tried next week. Chatman turned state's evidence against John Fultz, World War veteran, who was sentenced to life imprisonment following his conviction of slaying his cousin, George Fultz.

Sir Walter Kirke, head of Britain's reserve, says it "obviously is more satisfactory that the men should come from the immediate vicinity of the points to be defended."

ACT 123

AN ACT TO PREVENT Illegal or Improper Voting in Any General or Special Legalized Election in the State of Arkansas and to Supplement the Procedure in Primary Election Contests and to Provide for the Proper Assessment and Payment of Poll Taxes in the State of Arkansas, and for other purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS:

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to cast a vote in any general or special election hereafter held in the State of Arkansas, whether the same be a legal election now or hereafter provided by law or whether the same be a general or a special primary election held under the auspices of any political party in the State of Arkansas, unless the said person so casting a vote shall be a qualified elector as defined by the Constitution of Arkansas, Amendment No. 6 thereof, and Section 3736 of Crawford & Moses' Digest of the Statutes of Arkansas.

SECTION 2. It shall be unlawful for any person to cast a ballot in any election so held as set forth in Section 1 of this Act, unless the said person shall have previously assessed and paid a poll tax as now provided by law and which said assessment and payment of poll tax shall have been made by the person so casting a vote in person or by some person authorized by such person to so assess and pay such poll tax as aforesaid; provided, that in the event that such assessment is made and poll tax paid by an agent, assessing officer or collecting officer, authority in writing from the person or persons so desiring an assessment to be made or the poll tax paid and it shall be the duty of the said assessing or collecting officer, to file in his said office the said such written authority from the person or persons authorizing their said assessment to be made or their poll tax paid, and to keep the same on file in his or her office for a period of two years and the same shall be opened at all times to the inspection of any interested person or persons.

SECTION 3. It shall be unlawful for any collecting officer in this State at any time after the personal tax records have been delivered to him by the County Clerk for the purpose of collecting the personal taxes, to add to the said Tax Books the name of any person whose taxes have not been previously assessed as now provided by law, and shall further be unlawful for any such collecting officer to issue a poll tax receipt to any such person whose name does not appear on the Tax Books in the manner now provided by law.

SECTION 4. It is hereby made the duty of all Collecting officers in this State, or their deputies, to issue Poll Tax Receipts in regular order as they appear in the books and upon the forms as issued by the State Auditor's Office as now provided by law; and it is also made the duty of all collecting officers in this State to cease issuing poll taxes after midnight of the 15th of June of each year, provided the collector shall deliver to the County Clerk the certified list of Poll Tax payers within fifteen days from June, the 15th of each year, and it is hereby made unlawful for any collecting officer to date such poll tax receipt, other than the correct date the same has in fact been issued; provided nothing in this section shall prohibit collecting officers from issuing poll tax receipts after June 15th of any year and in such cases the said Collecting Officer shall stamp across the face of any such poll tax the following: "This poll tax issued after June 15th." When any such poll tax is so issued and stamped as aforesaid, the same will not entitle the holder of the same to vote in any general or special election held thereafter in the year the said poll tax has been issued, and the names of any persons holding such poll tax receipts shall not be included in the list of persons paying poll taxes prior to said June 15th in any year.

All poll tax receipts issued by the collector shall be made out and signed with pen and ink. No Poll Tax Receipts shall be delivered to any person later than five days after the date of the issuance thereof and the date written on the Poll Tax receipt shall be the date of issuance. It shall be unlawful for any person to be found in possession of any Poll Tax receipt other than his own after five days after the date of issuance thereof. It shall be unlawful for any person to deliver to another a Poll Tax receipt, and unlawful for any person to receive a Poll Tax receipt after five days after the date of issuance thereof. No candidate for office shall purchase either directly or indirectly any Poll Tax receipt except for himself or for his wife, parents and children. The violation of any of the provisions or requirements of this section shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $200 and the violation of any provisions of this section shall render the person so violating the same ineligible to hold any office in this State.

SECTION 5. It is hereby declared unlawful for any candidate for office to assess the poll tax of any person without written authority as herein provided in Section 2 of this Act; and should it appear in any election contest that any candidate for office without such authority has assessed the poll tax of any person or persons, such fact when proven will of itself deprive such person from holding any office in this State for a period of four years, whether the said candidate shall have been elected or not; and it is hereby made the duty of the Court or Judge trying any election contest to so find whether or not such fact is proven, and the evidence upon such fact may be reviewed by any appellate court to which the cause may be appealed, and the finding of the trial court upon this fact of assessing or paying poll taxes will not be binding upon such appellate court.

SECTION 6. Hereafter when any election contest has been filed by any candidate in any legalized primary election under Section 3772 and 3773 of Crawford & Moses' Digest of the Statutes of Arkansas, it is hereby declared that the only inquiry which can be made into the qualifications of the supporting affidavits mentioned in Section 3772 of said Digest as to whether or not the said persons are qualified electors and members of the parties holding said primary election under the rules prescribed by said party so holding the election and have in fact made the affidavit provided by the said Section 3772. Qualified Elector is hereby construed to mean any person who is entitled to vote in said election or has assessed and paid a poll tax as required by law.

Section 7. In the event that there are more election contests brought under said Section 3772 of Crawford & Moses' Digest than the Circuit Judge can dispose of prior to ten days before the general or special election to be held, then either of the parties to said contest may so report the same to the Circuit Judge in vacation or otherwise who shall have full and complete authority to appoint an attorney with the qualifications of Circuit Judges to hear any such contest and render a final judgment in the same; and the judgment so rendered by the attorney so appointed shall be binding with full force and effect as if the regular Circuit Judge had heard the cause; in the appointment of such attorney, the said Circuit Judge will not be confined in the selection of such attorney to the Circuit Judge in vacation, in which the said contest is pending. Provided, however, the hearing of said contest shall be had in the county in which the contest has been filed; and provided further that all proceedings shall be conducted as in the case of any regular judge trying any such case, including the right of appeal, and the said judge so appointed shall have full power and authority in the trial of election contests in all respects as are now conferred by the Constitution and State of Arkansas upon the Circuit Judges of this State.

Said Circuit Judge shall appoint as such special judge any attorney named by a committee of three qualified electors of the county in which said contest is pending, one to be named by the contestant, one to be named by the contestee and the third to be named by those two. In the event the first two committeemen do not agree within five days on a third member, then such third member shall be chosen by lot from the respective choices of said two committeemen.

SECTION 8. In the event that any person or persons shall cast a ballot in any legalized Primary Election held in this State when such person is not a qualified elector at the same time of casting said ballot or is not qualified to vote in the particular precinct in which said ballot is cast, the said person so casting said ballot shall be fined in any sum not less than $50 nor more than $200, and it is hereby made the duty of the Prosecuting Attorneys in this State, when advised of any such violation, to take all necessary steps to prosecute any such person, and if the said Prosecuting Attorney shall neglect, fail or refuse to prosecute such illegal voters, the said Prosecuting Attorney shall be subject to removal from his office.

SECTION 9. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person either an elector or candidate, to offer, accept, receive or pay any person any money, goods, wares or merchandise or to solicit any money, goods, wares or merchandise for the purpose of influencing his or her vote or influence during the progress of any campaign for office in this State, and any person, either a candidate for office or any person, whether an elector or not, violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than $50 nor more than $200.

SECTION 10. Hereafter any person who shall vote or offer to vote more than one time in any election held in this State, either in person or by an absentee ballot, or shall vote in more than one election precinct in any election held in this State, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum of not less than $100 nor more than $200 and shall be disqualified to cast a vote in any election thereafter for a period of five years.

SECTION 11. Any Election Judge or Clerk who shall permit the vote of any person to be cast in any election precinct held in this State, when said person does not appear in person at said election precinct and actually cast said vote shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum of not less than $100 and not more than $500, and upon said conviction such person shall be prohibited from serving as any election judge or clerk in any election hereafter held in the State of Arkansas. Provided this section shall not apply to persons entitled to vote an absentee ballot as now provided by law.

SECTION 12. The right is hereby conferred upon any candidate in any legalized Primary Election hereafter held in this State, after the polls in any election precinct have been closed, to be present in person or by a representative designated in writing at the count of the ballots in any such election precinct, for the purpose of determining whether or not such ballots in such election precinct are fairly and accurately counted; and any election judge or clerk refusing to permit such candidate or his or her representative to be present at the count of the ballots in such election precinct shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction for so refusing to permit said candidate or his or her representative to be present, shall be fined in any sum of not less than $100 nor more than $200.

SECTION 13. Hereafter during the progress of any primary election in this State, any candidate, in person or by representative designated in writing, shall have the right to be present for the purpose of challenging any voter who appears for the purpose of casting a ballot in any election precinct, when the ballot of any voter is thus challenged, it shall be the duty of the judges and clerks in said election precinct to make and retain a list of the names of all such persons so challenged and the ballots of all such persons shall be counted, preserved and separated from the remaining ballots to the end that the right of any such person to vote may be later determined either by the County Central Committee or the Court in which an election contest may thereafter be filed. Any Judge or Clerk violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than $100 nor more than $200 and shall be prohibited from ever acting as a judge or clerk in any election to be held in this State. Provided, however, nothing in this section shall prohibit any candidate from later challenging any illegal ballot cast in any such election precinct.

SECTION 14. It shall be unlawful for any person to cast what is known as an "Absentee Ballot" unless the person so casting such ballot is in fact actually absent from his or her precinct; provided, however, no such absentee ballot shall be considered a legal ballot unless such persons shall apply to the County Clerk in person or by letter or shall appear in person before said County Clerk and vote such absentee ballot in the manner now provided by law. And it is hereby made the duty of the County Clerks in this state to keep on file in his office all correspondence in connection with any and all persons voting such absentee ballots, and upon the convening of the County Central Committee, and not only the absentee ballots shall be presented to the said committee, but all correspondence in connection with such absentee ballots and only such absentee ballots which have been prepared and voted in the manner now provided by law, shall be deemed a legal ballot. Any person casting an illegal absentee ballot or attempting to do such such a ballot, and any County Clerk violating the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction of such offense shall be fined in any sum of not less than $100 nor more than $200.

SECTION 15. It is hereby declared to be the duty of all County Clerks in this State to preserve the returns of all legalized elections held in this State as is now provided by law. Whenever any returns from any election shall be delivered to said County Clerks by the County Central Committee of any political party, the same shall be locked and sealed as now provided by law and deposited in the custody of the said County Clerks, and the same shall be preserved in their integrity by the said County Clerks, either in some suitable and safe place or vault in any courthouse of this State, or in case there is no suitable place or vault in the courthouse, the said County Clerks shall select some safe and secure place to so preserve said returns.

SECTION 16. In all elections in Arkansas duplicate ballot boxes shall be used. The duplicate ballot of each voter, after being numbered with the same number placed on the original ballot, shall be deposited in a duplicate ballot box which shall be sealed with a standard make of numbered seal by the person who delivers the election supplies to the election officers. A record shall be made of the number upon each seal showing to which precinct the box bearing said number is delivered. Said record shall be signed by the person sealing the ballot boxes and verified by him and filed with the County Clerk as a permanent record. The duplicate ballot boxes shall in no event be opened unless by order of a court of competent jurisdiction made in an election contest or by a grand jury in connection with its inquisitorial duties or by direction of the prosecuting attorney in the prosecution of a person for violating any of the election laws. Said duplicate boxes shall be delivered to the County Treasurer who shall safely keep said ballot boxes under the same penalties prescribed herein for failure of the County Clerk to safely keep the returns received by him. It shall be unlawful for any person to open or permit to be opened any of the said duplicate ballot boxes except as above mentioned and any person so opening or permitting to be opened any of said duplicate ballot boxes shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $200. It shall be the duty of all party officials whose duty it is now to furnish ballots to the Judges and Clerks to furnish in the manner now provided by law, a sufficient number of ballots printed in duplicate. ## Lightning Kills Two at Golf Club

Bolt Injures Six Other Spectators at Kansas City

KANSAS CITY. — (AP) — Lightning struck dead two spectators and injured six others, one seriously, in a spectacular storm that blotted out the first round of Kansas City's $5000 golf tournament Friday.

William D. Boyle, 60, widely known contractor, and E. M. Critchfield 38, a credit manager, were killed near the ninth green of the Hillcrest Country Club course. Thomas J. Cunningham, a board of trade employee, was severely burned.

The tragedy occurred midway of the afternoon while the nation's "big names" of golf were driving through a downpour of rain. Play was suspended to 54 holes of competition Saturday and Sunday.

Boyle, Critchfield, Cunningham and Lester Allen were standing with a separate group of about 15 spectators by the ninth green, watching a three-some made up of Horton Smith, Chicago; Leonard Dodson, Springfield, Mo.; and Leland Gibson, Kansas City, all pros, come up the ninth fairway. There was a vivid flash which one witness called a great mass of green fire, and a tremendous crash. The victims dropped as if shot. Boyle was killed instantly and heroic work on the part of George Combs, a Boy Scout, failed to revive Critchfield. Rain had replaced sunshine an hour before. Hundreds of hardy spectators covered themselves as best they could and pushed across the fairways. A few like Mrs. Boyle, wife of the contractor, sought the clubhouse. Then from the darkened skies came a crash of thunder and a streak of lightning. Smith was holding an umbrella. It flew out of his hands. Dodson danced around on one foot. At first he believed the bolt had struck his other foot.

Smithfield London, is the largest and oldest meat market in England. It has an annual turnover of 500,000 tons including eggs, meat and poultry.

It has been estimated that there are 13,000 elephants in Kenya colony, East Africa.

"You'll be happy as larks!"

1. His mother whispered: "She's wonderful, Bob—but you could teach her a thing or two about tea. Tell her to get Lipton's."

2. Bob objected: "Gosh, Mom, but Lipton's Tea must cost a fortune. And we're going to be poor as church mice!"

3. Mother laughed it off: "Why, son, even as choice a tea as Lipton's costs less than any other beverage except water. And you really ought to serve the best—when the best costs so little."
